Adding a Google account to an Android device

If you own an Android device and want to download applications from the Google Play store, you must first add a Google Account to the device. If you don't own an account, refer to the How to set up a Google Account fact sheet to create one.

Adding a Google account to an Android device

1. Open your device's main Settings menu.

2. On the tab Accounts, press + Add Account.

3. Press the option for a Google account.

4. Choose Existing if you already own a Google account, or choose New if you don't own an account – refer to the How to set up a Google Account.

5. Now, enter your email into the boxes to complete the process.